Marquis the UK's largest dealer network has expanded their network again by the acquisition of Martins of Exeter situated on a prime 4 acre site with easy access to the M5 at Junction 30.

Marquis Exeter, as the new site will be known, officially opened for business for new and loyal customers alike on the 28th January 2020.

The new business will benefit by having a vast display of new motorhomes from the Trigano Group, including iconic models from Auto-Sleepers, together with the award winning ranges from Benimar, including Mileo, Tessoro, Primero and Benivan, and Mobilvetta. Also making their debut on the Sandygate site will be models from the industry leading exclusive and award winning Majestic range of coachbuilt motorhomes.

Mike Crouch MD for Marquis commented "it is a great pleasure that we welcome the opportunity to acquire such an iconic name in the caravan and motorhome industry. With nearly one hundred years' experience in supplying caravans and latterly motorhomes to the South West, Marquis Exeter is a super fit into our portfolio. Their customer service and reputation is second to none, and with an Approved Workshop under the NCC banner means they can cater for a vast range of service and repair work."

A Brief History of Growth...

1973 Marquis Motors is established in a small workshop in Hampshire. The name Marquis derived from an amalgamation of original owner Dave Willis' wife's name and the name of a wife of a friend.

1986 This was the year the company acquired its first New Motorhome franchise - a brand to this day we are proud to still have a strong working relationship with and work closely alongside to bring you one of our best-selling special edition ranges - Elddis.

1991 Marquis begins expansion into a multi dealership company with the acquisition of a second branch in Dorset. From now until 2020, Marquis will acquire a further 11 depots to become the nationwide dealer with 13 branches across the UK you see today.

2000 Marquis and Auto-Sleepers merge to become the Auto-Sleepers Group to form a unique business model becoming a customer, client, supplier or competitor or virtually everyone in the industry.

MARQUIS IN THE MEDIA

Making A Difference

Marquis aim to support a range of charitable causes and events every year and our main way of supporting such events is with the loan of a motorhome or caravan. One of our biggest events of 2019 was supporting paralympian Mel Nicholls as she beat the current World Record of handcycling from Land's End to John O'Groats in under 7 days! Marquis offered our support for this amazing challenge with the loan of a Benimar Tessoro 494 as a support vehicle. The Motorhome comfortably accommodated both Mel and her crew as a base as she completed her World Record. Not only did Mel break a World Record, she also raised awareness and donations for two disability charities Arctic One and Adaptive Grand Slam Foundation. Read on for Mel's review of her support vehicle.

LOOKING FOR SUPPORT?

If you have your own charitable event coming up that you think could benefit from a support vehicle from Marquis do get in touch!

A record-breaking adventure basecamp in a class of its own.

The Benimar Tessoro 494, or Tessie as she was known to me, was picked to be the perfect support vehicle for Handcycle Britain; an End to End race of Great Britain by handcycle, against the world record clock.

My time to beat was 10 days and 8 hours, all I had to do was keep cycling. Everything else the journey delivered was in the hands of the adventure gods.

The Tessoro 494 was an ideal set up for me and my support team. The spacious garage at the rear of the vehicle housed perfectly my 2 meter long handcycle, spare wheels and mechanics kit, with an added bike rack fixed to the back of the motorhome able to carry a further 4 standard bikes, or as did for us, 2 support bikes and my wheelchair. Inside was spacious and equipped with everything I would need on the road and for my support team to work from.

As a disabled athlete I walk on crutches. Moving around inside the van was not a problem for me, and while the Tessoro 494 was equipped to travel with 4 people, once parked up, on many an occasion we had the whole team of 6 around the table and another couple in the kitchen area. With two decent dining seating options plus the swivel cab chairs, this was easily done. This area often lent itself to my physio room, needles at breakfast was not an uncommon sight.

Although compact enough for ease, the layout is I think quite cleverly done, leaving the kitchen slightly away from the dining area, fully equipped with a full size oven, grill and stove, plus a microwave and large fridge / freezer and a sink. Having to feed a whole support team every day from the van, let alone the 6000 calories I was burning each day on the bike, meant for a near constant factory of food preparations, followed by the big clear and wash up. The kitchen area coped well with this demand, and nobody went hungry. I think we could have done with a little more cupboard space; there are 2 /3 good sized cupboards and drawers, and I know our needs weren't quite the norm.

At the back of the Tessoro and out of the way of the main hub of the adventure basecamp is the bedroom. This was my room. A door separates the two if some privacy or as occasionally, a 10 minute nap was needed. The bedroom is light and airy and very spacious indeed. The island bed in the centre gives room for floor space either side, the back wall fitted full with cupboards and wardrobe space, bedside table tops and easy access usb points and a variety of lighting. The bed is a real luxury, double size and extremely comfortable; I was very grateful of my 4 hours in it each night. The bed also made for an ideal treatment couch when the weather was not suitable for roadside plinth work. Under the bed is further storage and drawers at the end.

In either corner of the bedroom are the toilet and wash basin and the shower. Admittedly I did not use the shower while we were based on campsites, but having a full size cubicle in the privacy of the bedroom would be a real camping treat.

The second bed was where my physio slept. A switch lowered the bed and raised when not in use, allowing for maximum usability. The bed was again, a full size double, and another perfect example of maximising every bit of space while proving very cleverly functional on a luxury level.

During Handcycle Britain, despite it being the week of summer leading up to the longest day, the weather was not on our side. Storms ravaged Britain and I was right in the epicentre of them. I would need to change my complete cycling kit three times each day; from my waterproofs down to my skin was drenched, meaning Tessie had become more than a breakfast / lunch stop, end of day camp, and very quickly became my emergency rescue. Soaked and freezing I would have to be stripped off, and while I layered up with my next set of clothes, Tessie's job was to warm me back up. Having heating readily available on gas was a real life-saver and it was amazing how quickly my kit dried out too. The Tessoro 494 enabled an efficient turnaround and kept me healthy and on the road. She was without doubt my emergency services.

As our model was a manual drive, I personally did not drive it, although I know an automatic version is available and I would very happily drive.

My driver / navigator absolutely loved driving the Tessoro 494, we had a second support car on the road with us for the rest of the team, but Tessie was always the favourite of my driver Matt's. Small enough to drive on a standard driving licence yet giving that 'king of the road' feeling up high with everything you need behind you. She handled very well, there was nowhere Tessie couldn't go, and it was always a welcome sight as I saw her in the distance waiting for my arrival at the end of the day.

A beautiful van inside and out, a valued part of the team and I know I wasn't the only one sad to say goodbye at the end of our record-breaking adventure. She did us proud.
